

St John's Recreation Ground

Update

April 2006

Improvement project going ahead

The Council's Cabinet recently agreed that the refurbishment project at St John's Recreation Ground is to go ahead. Councillors acknowledged that play facilities serving the St John's and Culverden areas are poor and approved the latest design for the project (copy inside this newsletter). The new plan takes account of many residents' comments and has been drawn up to achieve the greatest possible level of satisfaction for the majority of residents.

St John's is the only local park for a large number of households and Councillors are keen to see the park upgraded with challenging play opportunities for children and young people. The new design includes an exciting play area with old favourites like swings and a roundabout, as well as an aerial cableway and sandpit. For older children and young people there will be a multi-ball games court and a landscaped area designed for wheeled play. Since the consultation process started in 2003, the estimated project cost has risen to £291,000. This is partly due to costs associated with design changes arising from the consultation, but also as a result of inflation and additional design fees.

The revised plan for St John's Recreation Ground can be seen:

- ◆ on the Council's website: www.tunbridgewells.gov.uk
- ◆ at the Town Hall

Target Timetable

Detailed design and specification	..... May 2006
Tender process	..... June-August 2006
Start on site	..... October 2006
Completion	..... May 2007

Fountain

Sections of the fountain are currently in store for safekeeping. The fountain is a historic feature of the park and there may be a future opportunity to seek grant funding to restore it. When the refurbishment project is complete and the park is once again a vibrant space, this could be a potential project for the Friends group!

Park toilets

Local residents who asked when the park toilets are due to be refurbished will be pleased to hear that this work will be carried out to coincide with the main project.

Friends group

As the project gets under way, this is an excellent time to look at ways of developing an effective Friends' group for the park in the future – a group that represents park users of all ages and interests from across the different residential areas that the park serves. An active Friends' group would form a vital link between local community, the park staff and the Council and could become involved in any of the following:

- ◆ Volunteer activities, such as bulb planting or environmental projects.
- ◆ Organising community events and activities.
- ◆ Fund-raising (a Friends' group would have access to external funds that are available to community groups rather than the Council).
- ◆ Research about the park.
- ◆ Contributing and discussing ideas and views about the management of the park – essential to the development of the park's Management Plan over the next 18 months.

Friends could volunteer as little or as much time as they wish. Whilst it is envisaged that the Friends will be an independent group, the Council would be happy to help the group get established.
